The canopy is attached to the zipper on your trailer top by a row of positive clamp snaps. No danger of jammed zippers with this modern construction. The fabric is our new closely woven pearl grey Marine Twill, flexible and easy to install, pack, and carry. This will match in color the pearl grey army duck used in the tops of most camping trailers. In the assembly is included four 6 ft. aluminum telescoping and adjustable upright poles and one 8 ft. pole, five guylines with aluminum slips, five 12 inch steel ground stakes, all in a useful canvas storage bag.

Model CT-916 $39.95

A teature of this dining canopy is that it is equipped so that it could be set up independent of the trailer. This is accomplished with a conversion kit CT-K which includes one 8½ ft. aluminum pole, two 6 ft. aluminum poles, three guylines, and three steel ground stakes.

TENSION SPRINGS for GUYLINES

When wet weather shrinks the tent the guyline becomes too tight. In dry weather too slack. Tie these springs in the guyline as shown in sketch and the tent will automatically adjust in all kinds of weather. The tension spring will allow for the variance in tension. When tents are set up for a long period, these guyline springs will be really appreciated as hours of work will be saved in guyline adjustment.

CHEX-FLAME

$4.95 GAL.

Chex-Flame ready-to-use compound is specially formulated to restore the original water repellent and flame retardant qualities of canvas items that may have become ineffective due to weathering. The color is neutral. Can be brushed or sprayed. Use it on tentage, tarps, truck covers, welding curtains, etc., to restore flame resistance. Chex-Flame is not recommended for use on wax-type waterproofed fabrics because of the flammability inherent in the wax itself. However, Chex-Flame will do a remarkable job on canvas originally finished for fire repellency or on untreated duck.
